THE GOVERNMENT v. BOULANGER

Paris, April 1st—In official circles it is said that the accusation against Boulanger is being delayed owing to M. Renana, Attorney General of the Republic, who is holding back from signing same.

THE PORT OF LA PLATA.

On last Sunday Mr. Francisco Uriburu, with a party of friends, visited the port works of La Plata and inspected the new dock, which is now nearly finished, and which we believe will be the largest dock in all South America. We started from the Central station at 8 a. m. The following composed the picnic party; Srs. F. Uriburu, S. Polinini, N. Bouwer, O. Stoppani, C, Sanford, C. de Lestapis, M. Medici, Dr. Marengo, Ex-Governor Uriburu, M. Castels, M. Maschwitz, M. Correo Morales, M. Novarese, M. Van Rees, E. T. Mulhall and M. E. Sr, Uriburu, Ministers to Chile. It was a lovely morning, and the Central Station was as crowded as the Victoria Station, London, when we visited it last June. As we passed over the Riachuelo we noticed the magnificent new bridge of the Ensenada railroad, a worthy monument of British skill and labor. Farther on we could see the works of the new Produce Market raising their heads over the house tops. The gardens and quintas looked fresh and green, and at Quilmes a large crowd of passengers got out. We looked for our friend Dn. Domingo Cichero, our companion on the cone of Vesuvius, but his quinta is shut up and he has moved with his family to town, and Quilmes without Dn. Domingo looked to us "triste." We had to change coaches and get into the Ensenada train, and after a pleasant run out, arrived at Ensenada, where there is now a fine station, a thriving, busy town, and immense deposits. The place is so much changed since we last visited it, a couple of years ago, that there is really no recognizing it; but such is the story of almost everything in the country. We all walked through the village, crossed the Rialto, or the bridge over the canal, and entered the workshops of Messrs. Medici & Co.; and here we lingered a few minutes inspecting maps, plans and charts, whilst they got ready three locomotives to conduct us to the dock.

This vast establishment certainly astonished us. It gives employment to 2,600 men. There are 22 locomotives, 450 waggons, 8 drays, 21 steam launches, 11 remoleadores, 25 steam pumps, 80 vessels, and the whole stock of the place represents 1,400,000 nats. gold. They receive monthly from the Banda Oriental 55,000 tons of stone, which is employed in the walls of the dock. We ascended the locomotives and steamed cautiously through the works, right down through the centre of the great dock, which measures 1,300 metres long by 150 metres wide, and with 9,000 metres of quays, which will give our readers some idea of the magnificence of the works. The walls of the dock are solid masonry, about three metres thick, and they cost about 27 nats. gold per cubic metre. Having surveyed this splendid dock, we mounted the locomotives and ran back to the deposits and moles of the company of that name. Here we found vessels and little steamers moored alongside, and one large English bark drawing twenty-three feet of water, discharging cement. Although it was Sunday, there seemed to be much going on. The galpones, or deposits, are of immense length, and from what we saw of the property of this company we should say it is most valuable. On the opposite side of the canal is the site of the new La Plata Produce Market, which promises to be an equally grand concern: fifteen millions nats. capital and all the railroads are to run into the market. The improvements going on in and around the port are simply bewildering. The government has already spent ten millions on the works, but the increased value of the land recoups the whole sum. The Moles and Deposits Company are spending ten millions, and the new Market Company is now going ahead and spends fifteen millions, which shows the enormous sums invested in these improvements, of which the public of Buenos Aires know so little. We embarked in two small steamers and ran down the canal to the canal extension, which is protected by two breakwaters of great length; and now having all seen so much, we began to feel hungry and steamed back to a most beauteous spot on the Island of Santiago, where there is a hotel Diomede and gardens of pleasure, and where in a bower of roses and jasmines, we found the table spread for our party, flags of all nations streaming from the trees, and an old Castellamare harper played sweet Italian airs during breakfast The breakfast was intensely "compestre", and the weather was glorious: "Carne con cuero" with "chinti,", and for those who preferred it champagne and Chateau Margaux. At the opening of the sixth seal the toasts began: Mr. Bouwer, the representative of Messrs Baring Bros, London, in graceful terms proposed the health of Mr. Uriburu, the patron of the feast, which was drunk with all the honors. Mr. Uriburu replied in eloquent terms; he spoke of the wonderful progress of this country, and the great obligations Argentines were under to foreigners. He called attention to the fact that around the table nine different nationalities were represented, and that the very same element and cause which achieved for old Rome her greatness were now at work for this country (great cheers).

Sr. Pollinini next rose and proposed the health of Sr. Medici, the great architect of La Plata progress. Mr. Mulhall proposed the health of Mr. Sanford, who has made so many footprints in every avenue of the country's progress, and who has the high honor of having one of the mountains of Curamalan called after him. (cheers) Mr. Sanford replied. And now toast followed toast with such rapidity that it was hard to keep the record. Sr. Uriburu rose, and in his usual full, eloquent style drank Prosperity to the Argentine Republic, and this closed the feast. We all strolled through the gardens and then went down to the canal and took the little steamers and made for La Plata, where coaches were in waiting to drive us to the Museum. When we finished the Museum we drove through the city, visited several of its public buildings, and finally pulled up at the Banco de Italia & Rio de la Plata, and inspected the valuable site where the new bank building is to be erected, perhaps the very best locality in all La Plata, facing the Provincial Bank and the R. R. Station. We all returned to town by the 5 p.m. train, highly delighted with the day's excursion, and all much obliged to Mr. Uriburu for his most pleasurable picnic.

POOR MR. FLOQUET

Antibes, Feb. 16.

Being three miles from a railway station and nearly 24 hours from Paris I am so far from the world of politics that the news of the fall of Floquet's cabinet must have reached Buenos Ayres before it came to my knowledge, this morning. The event has not at all surprised me, for it seemed absurd that Floquet should continue in office after the crushing defeat inflicted on his candidate, Jacques, at the election of 27th ult. He has prolonged his term of office 18 days by a sacrifice of dignity, and falls now never to rise again. After the election everybody asked what would be Boulanger's next move, as if they expected a revolution, but the General adopted the wise policy of letting events take their course, and everything is turning out as he could desire.

We may now ask what President Carnot means to do. He is in just as "triste" a situation as President Grevy was a year ago, and cannot hold his ground very long. He was never anything but a cypher; his administration has been only remarkable for copying Louis Napoleon's hunting parties at Fontainebleau. There is some talk of his inviting Mr. Freycinet to make a cabinet, but this would not tend to restore confidence. Whatever financial troubles have overtaken France may be said to date from Freycinet's extraordinary expenditure for public works, estimated at 200 millions sterling.

In the actual posture of affairs an abler man than President Carnot would be puzzled how to meet the crisis, which is not of his own creation. He is face-to-face with Boulangism, as the Directory was with Bonaparte in 1793. The Directory sent Bonaparte to Egypt, to get him out of the way. M. Carnot is not prepared to imitate such a step, by giving Boulanger an army to repeat the Battle of the Pyramids. Hence we may hear at any moment that he has resigned his post of president and recommended the Legislature to order a Plebiscitum immediately. Boulanger says that France is wearied of her Floquets, Grevys, Wilsons, Carnots and nonentities. The election of the 27th ult. fully bears out such an assertion.

Boulangism may be no better, nay even worse, but Frenchmen are willing to try it. The General has declared that he is not anxious for war, but that England must evacuate Egypt or fight. In this he will certainly be supported by Frenchmen of all political shades. He will, moreover, have the approval of all European Powers. If it be true that Bismarck was the first to suggest the British occupation of Egypt, perhaps the advice was malicious, for it has brought down on England much ill-feeling from other nations.

However, it is premature to discuss M. Boulanger's programme. The disappearance of M. Floquet so far helps his plans that it leaves Frenchmen no other conclusion than that the sooner the General is installed at the Elysée the better.

ROSARIO

(From our own Correspondent.)

March, 24.

By the time this letter sees the light of publication, the greatest event of modern Rosario racing life will have come off; that is if the gods show themselves propitious, which there is already reason to doubt, as from early dawn this morning to time of writing, there has been a steady downpour of rain, with a suspicious look of persistency. Even should to-morrow turn out sunshiny, I am afraid our splendid Hippodrome, or as it is more simple and sensible to call it, Race course, will not be in a favorable condition for horse-flesh.

This is really much to be deplored, as the Polo Club had determined that the 25th day of March should be a memorable one in the annals of Argentine racing. The best equine blood in the Republic was to be represented, just as the great tournaments of the Middle ages gathered together all the most doughty and distinguished Knights of Europe. I suppose that no racing event, not even in the capital, has inspired such interest, not to say enthusiasm. It is something unusual in any part of the world to see for one racing day 124 entries, and it is expected that upwards of a 100 horses will run.

The gambling has been very brisk, and up to the present the following horses are the favorites: La Cometa, Whirlwind, Old Joe, Aladdin, Quilp, Playfair, China, Dan O'Connell, Don Rafael, Kilgobbon, Lord Lyon, Devil's Luck and Scots Grey. In all there are to be eight events. I am not enough of a turf man to be able to give your printers' devils a straight tip; I do not even know the names of the owners of the favorites; I believe La Cometa belongs to Mr. Kemmis, who will undoubtedly carry off some of the honours of the day, but there are some crack nags from your city that will dispute the triumph.

The Rosario Hippodrome is about four miles from the town on the road to Alberdi and San Lorenzo, near the newly laid out village of Sorento, and near the banks of the Parana. The property is owned by the Hippodrome Company, is laid out segundum artem, and has all the accommodations of a first-class racing course, with a spacious grand stand and accessories. The Buenos Ayres railway to Sunchales passes close to it, and trams run regularly, so that it is in easy communication with the town, although somewhat distant. But should the weather be favorable to-morrow the concourse of spectators is expected to be so great that it will severely tax the means of conveyance. The tram cars will of course carry their loads from the morning; but all this mass of people will have to return about the same hour in the evening, and of course will require a hundred cars when probably not more than half a dozen will be available. About fifty families have their private carriages, and all the public vehicles are already engaged. Then the Buenos Ayres railway intend running two express trains in and out, but hereby hangs a tale, which deserves a separate paragraph.

You have probably heard the echoes of angry complaints of travellers who have to use the Buenos Ayres line. The Company have built their station at a most inconvenient distance from town, and in a locality almost inaccessible in wet weather. For a passenger bound for Buenos Ayres it was a difficult thing to get to the station. Many coachmen absolutely refused to take him at night; others exacted exorbitant fares. It became usual to start from town at 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon, dine at the station and thus secure the night train. Now, all this wretched inconvenience to the public might be avoided if the Buenos Ayres Company would start their passenger trains from the Central Argentine Station as they did formerly; and I understand they can do so if they please. But they are at loggerheads with the Central Argentine line, and in their pigheadedness they sacrifice their own interests and the comfort of the public to a stupid and senseless enmity.

Now, in connection with the question of giving facilities to the immense crowds that are expected to attend the great "fiesta", prepared for them by the energetic Polo Club, the express trains of the Buenos Ayres line are an important factor; but the blind moles of this line absolutely refuse to run their trains from the Central station, in a swamp, in the best way they can; and this is not the worst of it. On the return the passengers will be dumped down on the same swamp and will have to swim or wade through the mud to the town. I know that Mr Fisher, who is liberality itself in the hearty cooperation he gives to everything, like the present, of public festivity, has offered every facility to the surly company, and I understand that Mr Percy Clark even went to Buenos Ayres, to see if he could arrange the departure of the trains from the Central station. Up to this hour the people of the Buenos Ayres line have remained obdurate.

One would imagine that these people would have seized this opportunity of doing a favour to the Rosario public, and thus allaying in some degree the resentment felt in connection with the late disaster on their line, which like numerous others on the same line since it was opened, is clearly attributable to gross carelessness. It may be they will come to their senses at the last hour; but the feeling in Rosario at the present moment is very inimical to the B. Ayres railway.

I am glad to see that the STANDARD is not in opposition to the Government decrees anent the Bolsa question. Throw in all your influence to support Minister Varela, who has had the courage to "bell the cat". President General Jackson did a much more daring, a much bolder action, when by a stroke of his pen he abolished the thousand-headed hydra, the old United States Bank Hundreds and thousands were ruined thereby, but the financial status of the country was saved. Compared to the great North American cancer, ours appears insignificant; but it was in a promising state of expansion, and, as Dr. Varela said, in a very short time every town and village in the Republic would have its Monte Carlo, and the monetary system of the country would be ruined by a few thousand counter-jumpers and sharpers.

More power to your elbow, Mr. Varela. Never mind the croakers; never mind the lamentations of the ruined. You can't cut off a gangrened leg without the patient screeching, unless you give him chloroform. Give your patients chloroform too, Mr. Minister, if you have any to hand, but off with the gangrened limb without hesitation. The whole country is with you, and may your next daring act be a decree ordering a return to conversion on the 1st Jan. 1890.

At the hour of closing this letter, although the rain has ceased, the clouds are heavy and threatening, and I very much fear the Polo Club programme will come to grief. If, happily, the weather turns out fine to-morrow, it will be carried out, although this disreputable rain of to-day will have marred to some extent the expected brilliancy of the great "fiesta."

W. P.

SUNDAY'S RACING.

A quiet day at Palermo was enlivened by an occurrence or sequence of events which, we doubt not, will be a fruitful subject of discussion in Turf circles for some time to come. In the Premio Velocidad, the Casal stable ran a couple of horses in Phidias and El Pasha and evidently intended the former of this pair to be a cock-boat or saving-clause merely, meaning to win with it only in the case of El Pasha failing, Phidias got off with a flying start and came into the straight leading his stable companion by 3 lengths, with Colibri about 2 lengths behind the second; the Talisman horse was now running with great fire and resolution and opposite the paddock, Phidias having slackened for the benefit of El Pasha, he commenced to get on terms and attempted to go outside his horses, but Pasha heading outwards completely defeated this manœuvre; he then tried for the rails, but Phidias closing in compelled the lad, who was riding with wonderful pluck, to attempt the middle passage; here, again, he was not successful, for the Casal horses closing, completely wedged him in and so prevented his certain victory; the three passed the post locked together, Pasha a nose in front of Phidias who was a very short head in front of Colibri. An objection naturally followed and after 20 minutes of animated excitement, shouting, and vituperation, the Casal horses were disqualified, their jockeys suspended, and the race awarded to Colibri. This decision was received in different ways by the partisans of the respective stables, and, as was to be expected, opinions pro and con were expressed with considerable violence; but it is perfectly clear, much as we may regret that the Casal owners (whose conduct, of course, stands perfectly unimpeached) have through the fault of their servants been placed in their present unenviable position, that the judgment of the Commission is in the main correct and that substantial justice has been done, for, as the race was run, Colibri, with a clear course, would have indubitably won easily and he was only prevented from having this clear course by foul riding.

The Premio Revancha was won by Wanda, who owed her victory to the way in which her rivals were ridden. In the Premio Novedad, however, the equitation was of a different order, for Kellett, riding Polyeucte, who was not in good trim, with judgment and delicacy, by careful nursing succeeded in finally landing him a comparatively easy winner from Firmin. Bijou, in spite of his bad hocks, was the best looking of a sorry lot of 2 year old colts who tried conclusions in the Premio Productos, which easily fell to the account of Maipu after Cock Crow had looked dangerous. The Premio Competidores was reduced to a match between Havre and Salvato, the former having no difficulty in presenting his opponent with 13 kilos.

MINISTER VARELA'S PREAMBLE.

It having been demonstrated that the pretended demands of gold caused by the "play at differences" are those which with prejudice to the public and private fortune, arbitrarily govern the value of the money which fixes prices all over the Republic, and it having been proved that those operations are simply a "game of chance" seeing that they rest on a contingency, that is to say, the occurrence of a price or of a quotation on a given day, it remains to me to show that this gambling, which has been and is a serious danger for general interests, threatens to become a permanent evil which may lead us to ruin. A Stock Exchange has already been established in Rosario, and there in a month gold was bought and sold to the amount of $24,000,000. This indicates that there may soon be one in every city of the Republic.

At present, those who operate in Buenos Aires think that their quotations govern the quotations in Rosario, and the probably think that the same thing will happen with any other Stock Exchange that may be established in the Republic, and they will be right so long as the speculators in any other place are not more audacious than themselves; but what would happen if an audacious group of speculators in Rosario or elsewhere, by arrangement with an equally audacious group in the Capital, or without any such arrangement, should transmit large sums in gold from the Capital to the provincial city? And what would happen if such transactions should be multiplied as the Stock Exchanges in the Provinces increase? If we have not enough gold to stop the gambling on a single Stock Exchange, will it be humanly possible to find it for so many? In any of these cases the result, phenomenal for a civilized nation, may be that the control of the money which fixes the prices and transactions of the community, and with which the national taxes are paid, would, as regards its value in relation to intrinsic money, be in the hands of a group of speculators who had had the audacity to direct the upset ing of prices from a city of the Republic where perhaps, there is not the slightest legitimate necessity for a single gold coin; And this danger is not paradoxical. Rosario has already effected operations for more than $24,000,000 gold; suppose that the group of speculators should carry their operations to $66,000,000 or more, and that, prepared with some resources, they should disregard what passes in the Capital and should operate with no other view than that of gaining differences on the Rosario Stock Exchange and that of the Capital, where, if they should not have accomplices, there would be persons who would speculate on their own account and would make use of the transmissions of gold to aid their speculation? What would be the price of gold then, and where would it go if these operations were multiplied?

Nothing of this is to be feared if the operations in the Stock Exchange are suppressed, because the supply and demand in the market would respond to actual operations, and if there should be speculation, as there certainly would be, it must certainly be limited and possess very powerful resources, since every million sold or bought would demand a corresponding sum in national money; so that it would be absurd to suppose that they could buy up ninety millions of gold, or even forty or twenty with out the community and the administration intervening to defend themselves. Under the present system, the action of the community and of the administration is powerless for any result of a permanent character, because speculation, and especially speculation for a rise, has always in the mass of legal money which is in circulation or on deposit in the banks, means of providing a temporary scarcity of gold, and of making unlimited purchases leading to a "descubierto" and the consequent "difference" in the liquidation. The State and the Banks may cause a momentary fall, but only by par ing with their resources and revealing to the speculators the fact that in a new speculation they will encounter less difficulty in attaining their object which is the depreciation of the legal currency.

Moreover, this strife is impossible between the community and the State, which do not and ought not to speculate, and private individuales whose artificial transactions are only intented to create "differences" by altering the quotations of the prices of money. How, then, can we possibly submit to the creation of a multiplicity of Bolsas where national, money will be quoted in order to increase these unsustainable situations, so prejudicial to social interests?

The belief that any individual has the right to speculate, by operations of agio and chance, with the value of the money created by Society is as false as was the belief, which was generally entertained, that the Provincial Governments could create money, declare curso forzoso, issue bank notes, etc, etc.

These beliefs are vices of our education which we ought to eradicate with a vigorous hand, in order to enter fully into the practices of well organized nations, and by the decree which I propose I am endeavouring to suppress one of the vices, and I propose to follow it up by a series of measures which will give to our monetary system the means of accomplishing the purpose for which money has been created.

No one ought by artificial and illegal means to alter the value of money, and only the sovereign, which is the community, has the right of governing everything relating to money.

I must now consider the judicial phase of the question.

Is the sale or purchase of national money on the Bolsa legal? Is there any legal disposition which protects him who sells gold for legal currency, and had the law of November 1888, on Bolsa operations, that intention?

Decidedly not, because such operations are impossible according to our Codes.

Money is not a saleable thing. It is the measure of the price of things, but it cannot fix its own price.

Money, as some one has said, is not a thing of price, it is the price of things.

For a contract of sale, it is essential that there should be, besides the consent the parties, a thing sold and a price. (Arts 1323 of the Civil Code and 514 of the Code of Commerce-) The price must be in money (Arts. 1323 and 1349 of the Civil Code.) Whatever may be the national money in which the price of sale is fixed, the payment may be made in any other national money for its current value in the place where it is to be verified (Arts. 619 Civil Code and 702 Code of bommerce.)

Now, these dispositions being applied (and they cannot be renounced by the inhabitants of the Nation even by mutual consent), it results that a contract for selling gold money for paper (supposing, which is impossible, that the gold money is the thing sold and that the paper money is its ordinary price), the following adsurdity would arise:—

A. sells B. $1000mjn gold deliverable on a certain day, receiving as the price of the sale $1500 mjn in forced currency.

On the day for delivery, A. protects himself by Arts, 619 Civil Code and 702 Code of Commerce and by the law on Curso forzoso, and ascertaining that the current value of the goldin relation to the national money is $140 o/o he delivers, instead of $1000 gold, as stipulated, $1400 mjn in paper, and B. protecting himself by the same legal dispositions pays instead of $ 1500 mjn the agreed price, $1091.42 gold, the current value of paper in relation to gold; the result being that the money which was the price in money becomes the thing sold, and the money which was the thing sold becomes the price in money. A still greater absurdity would arise if A., using his right to deliver $1400 in legal currency, instead of $1000 gold, should receive from B. $1500 in the same money.

Feuser's ever-welcome Pocket Guide, for April, was distributed yesterday. The colour of the cover this month is rose, so we suppose the gold premium must fall before the 30th.

Railway Items.

SCANDALOUS AFFAIR ON THE NORTHERN RAILWAY. FIVE CARRIAGES WRECKED. INSPECTOR IRIARTE'S REPORT. INSPECTOR MAGENDA ON THE PACIFIC RAILWAY. THE GRAND CENTRAL TERMINUS.

The scandalous affair which occurred on Sunday night in the Northern Railway, although the result of a boyish spirit of mischief, may be traced to the ill-feeling caused by the recent crusade against the railways. In this case the Northern Railway was in no way to blame. A few wagons of the Western Railway blocked up the line and the Northern train was delayed. A host of impetuous youths then made things lively by smashing up seats, windows and in fact breaking everything they could lay their hand on. The train arrived at Central in a wrecked condition. The five saloon carriages were past recognition and Mr. Brown, the manager, has been placed in serious difficulty to repair the damage, since his new rolling-stock has not yet arrived. We cannot too energetically condemn the mischievous spirit of the juvenile passengers, who by their rash conduct have dealt a heavy blow to the interests of the travelling public. The manager of the Northern Railway, we know, has done and is doing everything in his power to meet the demands of the phenomenal traffic. Over £400,000 of rolling-stock has been ordered from Europe; a double-track is being laid, and only recently 6 splendid engines, purchased at £2000 a piece, were received from England and are now in service. This reminds us that Inspector Koranda in his last and most lengthy report charged the Company with having engines unfit for the heavy work. Probably Mr. Koranda inspected the shunting engines in the Retiro. We shall have occasion soon to examine Mr. Koranda's report, which is altogether of too serious a character to be allowed to pass unchallenged, and we shall endeavour to prove that in very many of his statements he has been most deeply mistaken.

Inspector Iriarte's report on the incident, forwarded yesterday to Dr. Araoz, states that the carriages were so damaged that they cannot be of any service for some time to come.

Dr. Araoz received yesterday a long report from Inspector Quesada, enumerating the accidents that occurred last month in the Central Entre-Riano Railway. No loss of life.

Another report received yesterday at the National Railway Board was from Inspectors Maganda. The report is a late one, being dated April 1, and states that the bed in the first section of the Pacific Line is being actively repaired. The Inspector finds that the carriages are not as clean as could be wished. Palermo Station appears to him to be in a state of neglect.

The tenders for the construction of the Grand Central Terminus should have been opened yesterday, but the Home-Minister has decided to postpone the day till the 25th May. The Minister took this decision in view of several petitions presented by interested parties.

Mr. Adelbert Hamilton's analysis of railroad indebtedness in the United States is attracting much attention by reason of the formidable aggregate shown and the practical sight in which the subject is presented. From that analysis it appears that this aggregate indebtedness is more than four-times as great as the national debt, and is mainly payable within the next twenty-five years. The annual interest charges, which are of course paid by the travelling and shipping public through fares and freights, are equivalent to a tax of $3 per annum upon every individual in the United States; and this, it is to be remembered, is about one half as great as the aggregate taxation by the Federal Government through tariff and internal revenue collections. When placed in this light the colossal railroad debt and the methods by which it is to be liquidated become a subject of such importance and direct interest to every individual that all are concerned in the honesty and efficiency of railroad financiering, and the people will call to stricter account the directors and other authorities who are supposed to represent public interests in the solution of this great problem, and who have unfortunately, been too slow to recognize their responsibility and exert their influence in behalf of economical, efficient and honest financiering. The popular interest in this railroad indebtedness is as direct as in the national debt, which has never been so large or burthensome, and the payment of which is now a simple matter in comparison to the liquidation of the railroad obligations.

ANGLICAN CHURCH SERVICE.

Buenos Aires, March 30th 1889

Dear Standard:

I am pleased to see some notice taken in your columns of the recent improvement in the service at the Anglican Church of St. John the Baptist, which I hope may be the forerunner of others which might be adopted with advantage, and foremost amongst the improvements I think would be the abolition of the "mixed" choir. Of course I can understand there may have been a difficulty in getting together a sufficient number of men and boys, and thanks are due to the ladies for kindly giving their time and attention to the choir under the circumstances; but with the agencies now at work, or in prospect, it is to be hoped a full choir of gentlemen and youths may be procurable. So long, however, as there is a "mixed" choir we can never hope to have "real" church music. Many seasonable hymns have to be sacrificed in consequence: for instance, I presume this year I must abandon all hope of hearing No. 66, A. & M. on the Fifth Sunday in Lent, as it ought to be sung.

While on the subject of the choir, I would suggest that when lady members come in late, whether they have new bonnets on or not, they should find their way to their seats by way of the aisle at an opportune moment, and not march up the nave to distract the congregation at their devotions, and be the observed of all observers.

Yours truly,

M. R.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The miserable, mesmatic North wind blew yesterday and gave every man over 39 in town what the French call "migraine" and the British "blue devils". Everybody is "clean sick" of such heat and stuffiness at this time of year; and there is far more reason why the Clerk of the Weather should resign rather than the Camara Sindical of the Bolsa. Oh! for a rousing Pampero.

In consequence of the doubts that prevailed among his countrymen as to the meaning of the word "consanguinidad" and the prohibition of kindred to marry, in the new Civil Marriage Law, the Rev. Dr. Smith, A.M., called on Saturday on Dr. Navarro Viola, Chief of the Registro Civil, who received him with the kindest attention, and, at his request, gave him the following explicit "precis" of marriages that are forbidden. It will be of use to all our readers as well as Dr. Smith's flock:

1. Parents and children.
2. Brothers and sisters, step-brothers and step-sisters.
3. Father-in-law and daughter-in-law, mother-in-law and son-in-law.
4. Girls under 12 and boys under 14.
5. Married persons cannot marry while either is alive.
6. If husband kill his wife or wife her husband, neither can marry the person who assists them in the crime.
7. Insane people cannot marry.

Thus, with the foregoing exceptions, all are free to marry, including first and second cousins, clergymen and adults, with or without their parents' consent. Now, all our readers, young and old, know how they stand. Girls can wheedle into matrimony a rich bachelor uncle, and a young gentleman over 14 can make a Mrs. of a wealthy maiden aunt; but both must steer clear of their father and mother-in-law. Were we a legislator, we should certainly have voted for including uncles and aunts in the prohibitions.

It was announced yesterday that ex-President Roca is sure of election as President of the Senate, and consequently "de facto" Vice President of the Republic, during the absence of Dr. Pellegrini. The Senate will honor itself as well as the ex-President of the Republic by an election in every way so appropriate.

Yesterday, strange to say, was Bismarck's birthday. We tender our warmest congratulations to the great Chancellor but cannot help wondering why he came into the world on such an unauspicious day.

We see with pleasure that an effort is being made to start an illustrated newspaper in Paris to be called "Reone Illustrée du Rio de La Plata". The promoters are trying to raise capital here

As this was considered the opening day under the new regime the hall was crowded, everybody being anxious to see what turn events would take and how stocks would move. It was naturally to be expected that the speculation in gold being cut short there would be a rush to speculate in stocks and so it turned out, as all the values reflected improvement both in tone and price. The older stocks were most favoured in this regard. The letargy which has beset new shares makes speculators fight shy of dealing, and thus speculation was almost confined to National Bank Shares, Constructors, and Credito Real. Booms will now again be the order of the day. The heavy holders will of course rig and corner the outsiders in precisely the same manner as the houses did in gold, but Minister Varela if he could not altogether uproot speculation may apply this soothing unction to his soul that he has cut away the greater part of the gnawing cancer by suppressing one of the most hotest mediums of speculation. It will be soon patent if his theory about its affecting the gold quotations be correct or not.

Operations in the share market at the first hour shewed the vigour with which the speculative campaign has now begun. In National Bank stock no fewer than 12,100 shares were taken up for end of month, opening at 265 fluctuating up to 266 at this rate. There was good demand for La Plata Moles for end of May, but strange to say, nothing was done for cash or end of month. There was a heavy business effected in Credito Real, 12,000 being sold for end month and in small lots at steady rates, opening at 140 rising to 141 and then fluctuating down to 139, closed at that rate. For the meteoric stock numerous buyers were offering and rates improved all round, to 133 for cash 134½ for end of month; Obligations changed hands at 14½ cash and 15 end month. Bolsa Bank Scrip was a trifle weaker, Cedulas were fairly brisk, but the New N was the series most in demand 342,300 changing hands for cash and 70,000 for end of month: rates were more or less the same.

The great topic on 'Change to-day was the affair on the Northern Railway last night. It appears that owing to some accident on the Western Railway the last train of the Northern could not pass up to the Retiro, and was detained between Palermo and the Retiro several hours. The passengers, composed mostly of young fellows from town, who had been out for the day at the Tigre, became furious and set to breaking the windows and the seats of the coaches to such a degree that the train when it arrived at 1 o'clock at the Central Station was a complete wreck. We must all deplore this sad and disgraceful affair, the more particularly as the Northern Railway was in no way responsible for the delay, and was made the innocent victim of the Western Railway "descarrilamiento," and we feel quite certain that those who took part in the destruction of the carriages must now regret the affair.

Banco Constructor Shares were in good demand to-day and seem to be rising fast, also the Obligaciones. Many parties are buying large lots for end of this month in order to hold them for the drawing of 15th May. It appears that the great sale yesterday of lots and building sites belonging to this bank was a splendid success, and new buyers of shares, Scrip and Obligaciones were offering all round.

The death of Don Alejo Arocena, one of our most esteemed and respected city merchants, threw a gloom over the Bolsa. He was a universal favourite, and died at a ripe old age. His funeral to-day was largely attended.

The German s.s. Munich is due at Montevideo on the 4th or 5th inst. She brings over one thousand Irish and several hundred English immigrants. The Government, we believe, will send them all to the Asilo in San Fernando, until they are placed in situations or started in colonies.

It was quite amusing to-day to note how quiet the gold business for the week has begun. Mr. Varela has completely knocked the bottom out of the speculativd gold tub, and although everyone says large amounts of gold will be shipped this week in the two steamers, yet gold was offering at 158½ and 159 for end of month.

A[illegible] arrived up from Mo[illegible]ng. was welcomed. He[illegible]ening.
"P[illegible]ort great activity in th[illegible]hing that comes ir[illegible]rices, but arrivals are [illegible]r wool at all sells at [illegible]outh Plaza.
Exch[illegible]ery low and looking [illegible] quoted today at 46 [illegible]d marks at 2.98.
We hear that there [illegible] much activity and speculation in [illegible] Necochea. It was said to-day that [illegible]ll-known auctioneer of this city had bought up some large lots and had paid high prices, which is strange for an auctioneer.

At the Sunday auctions held yesterday the following sales were effected: Calle Cerito 1612, 10x52 yds, for 40,000 dollars, buyer P. J. Battilana; site Calle Callao, corner 2nda Alvear, 14½x34 yds, for $22,000, buyer Dr. Drago; site Calle Bollini, between Cuyo and Cangallo, 10x40 yds, at 150 dollars the square yard; the Banco Constructor sites in Calles Piedras, Patagones and Boulevard Caseros sold splendidly, getting $381,444, nearly a third more than they were valued at by the valuators: property Mejico 2539, 73x50 yds for $10,500, buyer Dr. A. Bullrich; 4800 yds in San Isidro at 4.90 m/n each, buyer Mr. Rufino Pitt; 37,000 on the San Isidro Barranca for $100,000, buyer Mr. B. Huergo.

The National Bank discounted to-day 1,124,500 in gold.

During the past month eight steamers entered the South Dock with general cargo; six left with produce and one with a general cargo.

Speculation in stocks at the second hour ruled as brisk as in the morning, though National Bank Shares were in poorer demand and declined a trifle in point of quotation: they closed this morning at 266, opened at the second hour at this rate, rose to 266½, but then fell to 265 at which they closed. Credito Real opened and closed at 140 for end of month. Constructors closed at 134 for to-morrow and 136 for end of month. Sud Americano Bank Shares were done up to 99.50 for same date. All round there was general improvement noted, and no doubt there will be a still further advance in quotations as the speculation takes increased proportions.

The s.s. Mentana arrived in Montevideo yesterday from Genoa; will enter the Boca to-morrow with 400 passengers and 1600 tons cargo.

Sailings of River Steamers:
2nd—Venus and Camilo for Montevideo, Apolo for Uruguay, Diana for Santa-Fe.
3rd—Eolo for Montevideo.
4th—Venus, Olimpo and Camilo for Montevideo, Rivadavia for Uruguay, Aurora for Santa-Fe, San Martin for Asuncion.

Public opinion is so centred now on the administration of the Centro Agricola law that the maturing of a dozen concessions this week is a matter of much interest to the market. It is comforting to learn that Dr. Weigel Munoz himself intends to visit each and study their position, so that the public can depend on his report as to how the law is working. At the same time she law is as yet too young to give any practical results, and however favourably Dr. Munoz may report it will not remove the uneasiness on this point.

Advices from the provinces, especially from Salta and Santiago del Estero, report cereals as rare as gold and almost as costly. There has been a general closing of mills and bakeries through lack of wheat and flour.

One of the most important sales of property in this city yet reported was effected on Saturday, consisting of Juncal 810-849, Esmeralda 1310-76, and Paseo de Julio 1520, 75½x184½ yards with "martillo en contra" for 3,780,000 dollars. The names of the buyers are kept in reserve.

From Oostendorp's Produce Circular dated Antwerp, 18th February, we take the following items:—

"Movement in the hide-trade during period between 18th of February and 2nd of March:

Imports from	Dry-hides	Salted
River Plate hides	3,300 ... 35,300
Sales of R. Plate hides	2,400 ... 7,600
Sales of Rio Grande do	— ... 300

"Stock 113,400, viz.:

River Plate hides	47,500 ...	61,700
Rio Grande hides	2,300 ...	4 00

Miscellaneous, 400; horse-hides, 1100.

"Business has been of little importance owing to want of choice."

The s.s. Leibnitz, which sails on the 8th inst., will take passengers to Rio Janeiro to change to the mail steamer Olbers, leaving Rio on April 14th for New York.

Another new bank! We give in another column the prospectus of the Sociedad General de Credito, and judging from the great respectability of the names of the founders who have subscribed for 6000 shares, we should say it will do a roaring business. The Directory is composed as follows:—

President—Sr. Enrique Fynn
Vice-President—Dr. Carlos S Bollini
Secretary—Dr. Gregorio Uriarte
Treasurer—Sr. Narciso Laclau
Vocales—Sr. Ramon Gomez
" " Dr. Daniel M. Escalada
" " Sr. Gabriel Labarriere
Suplentes—Sr. Angel Estrada
" " Sr. Alberto Butler
" " Sr. Augusto Durelli
Manager—Sr. Julio Escalada

Mr. Consul Bridgett leaves at once for England, as Turner has been caught, and Mr. B has been summoned home to prosecute. We believe Mr. Mallet will take charge of the Consulate during his absence.

The crowd at the Banco de Italia to-day was something that attracted notice. We all thought that Patti must be in the bank, such was the throng, but on enquiry we learned that this being the 1st of the month most of the small depositors call to get their books written up, which accounts for the multitude, as this bank has, we hear, over eight thousand deposit accounts.
